THE LATEST NEWS AND UPDATES FROM VOLPI | MAY 2022

Multiplexing Special Report

Our latest report, "10 inevitable drivers of multiplexed molecular diagnostics," suggests that multiplexing is likely to be the defining characteristic of tomorrow's leading MDx solutions.

Take a few minutes to digest this evidence-driven forecast and see if you think it would be worthwhile to have a discussion with some of our optoelectronics experts who can help you brainstorm a path toward better multiplex strategies.

QUIDEL Savanna introduced at ECCMID

Quidel (San Diego, CA, USA) introduced the Savanna true sample-to-result multiplex RT-PCR system at ECCMID 2022 which took place in Lisbon, Portugal on 23 - 26 April 2022.

Savanna is a multiplex molecular platform that enables professional customers to analyze up to 12 pathogens or targets, plus controls, from a single assay run in less than 30 minutes.
